

WELCOME!

Can you find fulfilling work after retirement? Join us and explore new career possibilities for police and other public workers!

Welcome to PDFutures.com, an exciting web site about finding jobs and careers for retiring, retired, and active police officers. This is the only members-only site where jobs relevant to the police community are pulled together in one place: police chiefs, emergency disaster chiefs, security directors and managers, private and cold case investigators, foster care home monitor officers, truant officers, cyber security investigators, and more...

You can track insider jobs, new and interesting opportunities nationwide, and tap our resource think-tank for successful job search strategies- all tailored to police officers' specific backgrounds and goals, full-time or part-time.

Created by Vincent T. Iannaco, a retired member of the NYPD service who successfully transitioned into "Corporate America" over 20 years ago, PD FUTURES OFFERS SOLUTIONS to questions like: What should I do after I retire? What are the best and hottest industries today? What do I qualify for? What are my best skills and strengths? How can I find something useful that I really like and that will make me the most amount of money?

Don't waste your time with job boards and recruiters where you are just another resume among millions. Join now and enter our exclusive community of retired and active police.
